WRECKED ON ROCKS

River Steamer Sinks and Six Persons Are Drowned.

JUMPED INTO THE WATER

But Few of the Excited Passengers Perished, Most of the People Saving Themselves by Climbing Up on the Rocks.

Seattle, Wash., July 8.—Six lives were lost when the Hudson Bay steamer Mount Royal was wrecked on the rocks in Kitselas canyon on Skena river, sinking in less than five minutes afterwards. Many of the fifty-four excited passengers jumped into the water, but few were drowned, most of the people saving themselves by clambering on the rocks of Ring-bolt island.

The steamer was below Hazelton when the accident occurred, passing through a narrow canyon, which can be run only at certain stages of water, where the strong current carries river boats three-quarters of a mile in a minute and a half. The port quarter crashed against the rocky wall and the stern swung around and was battered against the opposite wall for the boat was longer than the canyon was wide. The big vessel heeled over with the weight of water and sank rapidly.

The Mount Royal was built at Victoria, B. C., in 1902. She was 130 feet long, 25 feet wide. She was commanded by Captain Stewart B. Johnson.

RIOT IN NEW YORK CITY

Incited by a Pail of Water Thrown Upon Italian Boys.

New York, July 8.—A pail of water thrown from an upper window upon the heads of a group of Italian boys who had disturbed the Sunday quiet of a colored woman, incited a riot on "San Juan Hill" that landed five men, one dying, in the hospitals, made several men prisoners and terrified the peaceably inclined among the 10,000 persons of all nationalities who reside in West Sixty-first and West Sixty-second streets.

A good share of the Italians of the section were on one side and on the other colored neighbors were involved while the hoodlums of all races seized the opportunity to attack each other.

While the battle raged in the street less adventuresome rioters went to the tenements and showered bricks and chunks of coping and flower pots upon the heads of those below. It took the police reserves of four precincts two hours to beat the combatants into submission.

The police are searching for the body of a man reported to have been shot to death. According to police informants a negro dressed in the uniform of the United States navy was seen to fire twelve shots from a pair of heavy revolvers into the body of a white man.

Wealthy Manufacturer Killed.

Keyport, N. J., July 8.—Christopher Morand, a wealthy silk manufacturer of Paterson, was killed and other members of his family were injured when a locomotive struck and demolished an automobile in which the party was returning home from Asbury Park.

Nebraska Town Wrecked.

Polk, Neb., July 8.—This little town, founded last September, was badly wrecked by combined wind and hailstorms. Business buildings were demolished or damaged and crops over a considerable distance ruined. The Baptist church was wrecked.

WAR IS INEVITABLE.

That Is the Opinion of German Strategists.

Berlin, July 8.—The conviction of an ultimate conflict between Japan and the United States appears to be widespread in Germany. The newspapers agree that President Roosevelt is earnestly trying to satisfy the Japanese requests. They agree also that Japan asks nothing unreasonable. They recognize that the difficulty lies in the question of race, the economic opposition of the Californians against the Japanese and the constitutional impossibility of federal coercion. It is considered that many groups of ruling statesmen in Japan are preparing to fight the United States for mastery of the Pacific regardless of the outcome of the present troubles. The strategists regard a war between the United States and Japan as the most interesting problem of the present day. Carefully considered projects which have been worked out are unfavorable to the United States, because the American fleet, although more powerful than that of Japan, would have to seek a fight in Japanese waters.

TARS NOT PATRIOTIC.

Jap Admiral Says Crews Would Desert in Event of War.

Tokio, July 8.—The Hoch prints an interview with Admiral Sakamoto in which the admiral is quoted as follows:

"Should hostilities break out between Japan and America the result would be indecisive owing to a want of proper bases of operation. Such bases as exist are too distant for practical purposes. Even the nearest bases, namely the Pescadores, Cavite and Manila, are at a distance of 600 miles from one another. Even if the Washington government should decide on a war it is doubtful if the Americans serving in the navy are sufficiently patriotic to fight.

"American naval officers are brilliant figures at balls and social gatherings, but they are very deficient in professional training and practice. It is too much to expect a burning patriotism in the American naval service in case of war with Japan. It is very likely that most of the crews would desert and leave the ships."

Causes Surprise in Japan.

Tokio, July 8.—Confirmation of the report that a powerful battleship squadron would be sent to the Pacific has been generally received with calmness, though there is some surprise in certain quarters well versed in diplomatic niceties.

A LOST CONTRACT.

The Little Thing That May Sometimes Prevent a Sale.

A pen once lost me an order. I had just worked up the executive of a large concern into a desire to buy. I had my contract form lying on his desk with my finger on the dotted line. He reached over toward his pen rack, took off a pen and plunged it into the ink well. He turned to me with a frown on his face—the well was empty.

I was ready with a fountain pen. The pen was uncapped. I handed it to him. He started to write. The ink would not flow. I took it and shook it. Again he made the attempt, with no result.

"I will get one," he said. So he stepped into the other room. Evidently some one stopped him with a question, for he did not come back for three minutes. Then he stood at his desk. He looked down at the contract.

"I believe I had better think this matter over again," he said. And all the talk I put up could not budge him.

I had lost a sale because my fountain pen was empty. Now, one of my regular morning duties, week in and week out, just as regular as my shave and my checking over of calls to be made and the making out of my expense account, is filling my fountain pen.—James N. Bowen in System.

DEFENSE OF HAYWOOD

Will Be a General Denial of Orchard's Allegations.

PLANS ARE ALL COMPLETED

Attorneys for the Defense Have Determined Upon What Course They Will Pursue—Accused Man Will Testify.

Boise, Ida., July 8.—The attorneys for William D. Haywood have completed the details of their plans for the final week of the defense. Interest in the trial now centers in the forthcoming appearance upon the stand of Haywood, who it is claimed has been the moving force in the Western Federation of Miners for the past several years, and of one of his co-defendants, Charles Moyer, president of the miners' organization. The third defendant in the famous case, George A. Pettibone, will not take the stand. Steve Adams, whose recent trial for the murder of a man in Northern Idaho resulted in a disagreement of the jury and who has been variously implicated by Harry Orchard in many of the latter's crimes, is still in the Boise jail available as a witness for the defense, but it has been definitely decided that he will not be called. The prosecution still claims it would welcome such a move, as the appearance of Adams on the stand might open the way for the introduction of a portion at least of Adams' reputed confession.

Haywood's testimony as to his connection with the Western Federation of Miners will be interspersed with much documentary evidence and the introduction of this will take up much time. The defense expresses its willingness that the cross-examination of Haywood shall take the widest possible range. The defendant it is said will not only deny in toto all that Orchard has said as to his connection with crimes, but will offer an explanation of the instances where the state has associated Orchard and Haywood, notably the instance of Haywood's part in the deception of the second Mrs. Orchard as to the whereabouts of her husband in the summer of 1905.

Haywood will also be called to explain the sending of several drafts to Jack Simpkins, a member of the executive board and an organizer for the Western Federation, whose presence in Caldwell with Orchard just prior to the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg has not been denied by the defense.

The attorneys for the federation say that these payments were the regular sums due Simpkins for his work as an organizer and had absolutely nothing to do with any crime.

The fourth instance to which the state attaches importance as tending to connect Haywood with the alleged conspiracy as revealed by Harry Orchard was the sending of a message by Haywood to Silver City, Ida., instructing the federation officers there to see that attorneys were engaged for Orchard and to protect the interests of the miners' union.

WITH A LIGHTED CANDLE

Three Men Searched for Gas Leak and Found It.

Plattsburgh, Neb., July 8.—A. S. Grassman was instantly killed and E. O. Wurl was seriously injured by an explosion of gas in the basement of the building occupied by them as a grocery store.

The two men with Fred McCauley were searching for the leak with a lighted candle. The explosion set fire to the building and before the fire department could extinguish the flames two other explosions practically demolished the structure. The body of Grassman has not yet been recovered. The loss is about $25,000.

An Unexpected Shot.

"My dear," said the caller, with a smile, to the little girl who occupied the study while her father, an eminent literary man, was at dinner, "I suppose you assist your father by entertaining the bores."

"Yes," replied the little girl gravely. "Please be seated."—Judge.

His Work.

"What," asked the man who is always preaching, "have you ever done to make this a brighter world?"

"I've done a lot in that line, stranger," said the one with the large, rough hands. "I'm a barn painter by trade, and I generally paint 'em red."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Dreyfus Will Retire.

Paris, July 8.—It is stated in military circles that Major Alfred Dreyfus, the former captain of artillery who was sentenced on a charge of treason to imprisonment on Devils Island, is shortly to retire from the army, accepting a pension.

MUST OPEN THE ELEVATORS

Wisconsin Commission Issues Order to Railroads.

Madison, Wis., July 8.—The Wisconsin railroad commission has issued an order requiring the Great Northern and the Eastern Railroad company of Minnesota and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad companies to open their big grain elevators at Superior to the use of the general public.

If the order stands and is not overturned by the courts, it will, it is believed, re-establish the grain business in Superior on the basis of two years ago, when the railroad companies in order to get around the Wisconsin grain inspection law leased their elevators to private parties, thus practically closing them to the public use and putting the independent grain dealers out of business.

In addition to requiring them to throw their elevators open to public use the order also provides that they shall not charge more than they did in the fall of 1904 for similar service.

The complainant in the case was the Superior Board of Trade by its president, H. T. Fowler, and Secretary E. N. Lent. The case grew out of the controversy over the inspection of grain at the Head of the Great Lakes. The legislature two years passed a law creating the Wisconsin grain and warehouse commission and providing for inspection of grain by it. The railroads thereupon leased the elevators in Superior to private parties and the Duluth operators thereupon had their grain inspected at Sandstone, Minn., before it came into Wisconsin for storage in elevators.

STATE REGALIA STOLEN.

Jewels Valued at $250,000 Taken From Dublin Castle.

Dublin, July 8.—A portion of the state regalia valued at $250,000 has been stolen from Dublin castle. The safe in which the regalia was kept was forced. The jewels stolen were those used in the ceremony of investiture in the Order of St. Patrick, the processional cross studded with diamonds and the jeweled sword which is borne in procession at the investiture of the Knights.

Lord Castletown, Knight of St. Patrick, was to have been chief of the state ceremony on the visit of King Edward to Dublin, but it is officially announced that the ceremony will be postponed. Sensational developments are expected.

A prudent haste is wisdom's leisure. —Italian Proverb.

Swans Defeat a Fox.

A correspondent of the Colwyn Bay Herald describes a fierce fight between a fox and a number of swans. The fox, after hiding for awhile among some reeds, boldly swam toward a number of swans. The latter were on the alert, however, and when within a yard the biggest bird attacked him with wing and beak, entirely submerging him for two or three seconds. Nothing daunted, the fox made a final attack, but ignominious defeat awaited him, as all the swans arrayed themselves in single file and made a desperate attack on their assailant, which eventually landed at the south side of the lake, his blood covering the felt of heather at the far end. The swans appeared to have sustained no injury whatever.

They Disagreed.

"These fellows were fighting," said the policeman.

"Your honor," began one of the prisoners, "I beg of you not to accept so crude a misconception of our acts. Doubtless you have heard of a 'gentleman's agreement?'"

"Certainly."

"Well, we had one, but it had progressed to the stage where it became a 'gentleman's disagreement.'"

Yet was the judge deaf to reason.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE BLIND OF CAIRO.

To Be Found Everywhere in the Shops and on the Streets.

The first thing that impresses the stranger in Cairo is the number of blind—men, women and children—to be found everywhere in the shops and on the streets. Ophthalmia is very prevalent throughout Egypt. Because of superstition concerning "the evil eye" the native mothers of the middle or the lower class do not wash the eyes of their babies at all. Watching the flies buzzing unheeded around and upon these blind children, a stranger hastens to buy a fly whisk. These are for sale everywhere and are quite attractive with their ornaments of fancy bands and palm leaf fiber. Blind beggars greet one at every corner. Even in the high class Egyptian families there are many blind. The lower classes of Egyptians are given much to hasheesh—that is, the lower classes in the large cities—and, although it is against the law to sell it, one will have the hasheesh places pointed out, and the men who smoke the drug are seen everywhere. They are distinguished by the peculiar appearance of their eyes, which become red, swollen and baggy underneath, and by the peculiar color of the skin, which resembles somewhat the skin of a Chinese opium smoker.—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's Weekly.

SITUATION IS DELICATE.

Such Is the Conclusion of Sensational French Papers.

Paris, July 8.—President Roosevelt's decision to dispatch a fleet of warships to the Pacific has led the more sensational newspapers in France to jump at the conclusion that the situation is more delicate than appears on the surface. This view, however, is absolutely repudiated in responsible circles, where the utmost confidence is expressed that existing or future differences between the United States and Japan will be amicably adjusted.

Nevertheless the possibility of complications was foreseen when France two months ago in a spirit of friendship tendered her good offices with a view to having Japan and the United States conclude an arrangement covering all questions relating to the Pacific.

In military circles, where the situation is regarded from a different standpoint, the dispatch of battle-ships is considered an elementary measure of prudence on the ground that strategically it will protect the United States against being caught napping and diplomatically it will force Japan's hand if that nation harbors aggressive designs.

A significant feature of the French comment is that the possibility of troubles occurring is considered only from the side of Japan. The Soleil regards the San Francisco incidents as a mere cloak to the real issue, which, which, it thinks, may be traced to the determination of Japan to enforce her commercial supremacy in China and the Pacific.

"For Japan it is now or never," it adds, "in ten years when the American fleet's predominance is unchallengeable and the Panama canal has been completed it will be too late."

THE BURDEN OF JAPAN.

Forbids Her Engaging in War With the United States.

London, July 8.—The present tension between the United States and Japan is exciting the keenest interest among all the European diplomats. None of them, however, believe that it will reach the stage of warfare because the heavy burden of debt Japan is carrying as a result of her failure to obtain indemnity from Russia forbids her embarking on a similar costly enterprise in the next decade. It is recognized nevertheless that the United States is incurring the enmity of Japan as one of her national assets, which may prove a handicap in the event of trouble with any other power.

Great Britain finds herself in an embarrassing position also because she is obliged to stand between her colonies and the matter of anti-Japanese laws. Transvaal has just put into operation a law regulating the entry of Asiatics, which applies to Indian subjects as well as to the Japanese and Chinese and which compels them to submit to an examination and registry with thumb prints, like criminals. Australia threatens legislation on the same lines.

He Could Count.

TO WORK BY COMMITTEES

A Large Committee is Appointed on Each Street to Push
The Work

CUT THE WEEDS BEFORE THEY GO TO SEED AND KEEP THE GRASS CLIPPED —BEAUTIFY YOUR STREET.

A meeting of the officers of the Civic League was held Saturday afternoon for the purpose of making some substantial start in the way of effecting an organization in the various wards so that they may do more systematic work, have more of our beauty loving people interested, and in the future accomplish greater results than in the past. It was decided to make this start in the Second Ward, and it is hoped that the vice presidents of the other wards will at once signify their desire to effect similar organizations. The officers will gladly respond at once in any possible assistance in the way of organization. The plan adopted in the Second Ward was by the appointment of a committee on each street, both north and south and east and west, who are earnestly requested to respond to this appointment, cheerfully, quickly and effectively, in seeing that all the weeds on the street for which they are appointed, are thoroughly cut and killed out before going to seed this year. That the grass on each street is mowed and everything done that is possible to make every street beautiful, a pride to each citizen, each ward and the whole city of Brainerd. This can only be accomplished by the various committees appointed at the meeting at once and taking immediate action. The officers appeal to all citizens to take a personal interest in this matter. Let your CIVIC BEAUTY pride shine forth with a brilliancy that will enthrall and encourage your neighbors, and in fact, every resident of your ward to thoroughly assist the committee in doing its work effectively and promptly and it is certain that if the committees do their part promptly and thoroughly, greater success will be achieved for increased beauty that can now be even anticipated. The committees appointed for the several wards are as follows:

The Fourth at Midland

The Fourth of July festivities at Midland attracted a large crowd from Brainerd, Midland, Esdon, Neutral, Flak, Cove, etc., who thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Several heavy three seated touring cars made the run up from Minneapolis. The celebration was in charge of the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors and was a success socially and financially.

At ten in the morning the "Emerald Isle" with Capt. Grady in charge hove in sight at Midland. As the water is shallow he anchored some distance from shore. His 40 passengers were all more or less sea-sick from their 30 mile trip from Cove and surrounding towns, and solid land looked good to them. A small boat with three ladies and three men was launched, but the "Emerald Isle" swung around and splashed some water into the boat and a heavy breaker quickly swamped the half filled boat. The ladies, Mrs. Olsen and Miss Bowers, of Cove, and Miss Kennedy, of St. Paul, were nearly drowned in the rolling surf and after hard work on the part of the men were rescued. Their experience was not relished by them. As one of them stated, it was bad enough to be seasick but to be half drowned too, nearly killed her. One of the boys on shore thought his girl was in the water and rushed to the rescue, but before jumping into the water he ran to the Midland hotel and with great presence of mind exchanged his thin summer suit for a pair of blue overalls, as some of the summer goods are liable to shrink. Fortunately his girl was not in the fresh water deep.

In the afternoon the Rev. Charles Fox Davis, of Brainerd, delivered an eloquent oration, which was heartily applauded. Then came an exciting game of base ball between Cove and Midland and the versatile Rev. Davis participated as umpire. He came through the ordeal unscathed. The battery for Midland was Neil J. Avery and Joe Workman, while Cove had two crackerjack Indians. The score was 5 to 2, in favor of Midland. A large delegation of handsome girls from Cove rooted for Cove and did the best they could to win the game. A funny incident occurred in the latter half of the game when Cove got excited and had one ball in the hands of its first baseman and another one pitched simultaneously to a batter by their pitcher. This little error on their part knocked out one of their double plays.

In the girls race Miss Irene Wunderlich, of Neutral, was first and Miss Bradford second. In the boys race the winner ran so fast that your correspondent only got half of his name, which was Cecil. Second money went to Lyle Archer. Dancing in the afternoon and evening was enjoyed by all, the music being furnished by the Hoffbauers of Brainerd.

Madame Cheiro the scientific palmist and clairvoyant is certainly meeting with approval here. Many have consulted her who are prominent in business here and all report her readings of the highest order. The Madame's prophecies have become historical. She having read for President McKinley at a dinner party in Washington at which she prophesied that he would be president over the second time; but that he would not live the time out as he would leave his life in a journey. She cautioned him not to travel much. She foretold the death of Gov. Tanner of Ill., relating to his wife he would not live seven months; he lived exactly six months and one week after the reading.

She read for Mrs. Bryan and related that her husband would never be president of the United States. Mrs. Bryan left the Madame's apartments in high dudgeon. History has proven this. She stated that Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, would never be Gov. of Wis., that his political star had set.

She foretold Consuellar Vanderbilt's illfated marriage, stating that her married life would start in happiness but end in gloom and sorrow.

The Madame also foretold the accident to President Roosevelt in which he fell from his horse and she now states that if President Roosevelt runs for president again he will be elected, but from the horoscope, she sees peril and danger ahead of him and advises him not to mingle in crowds much or take long journeys. It is not a bright prospect for him.

Madame Cheiro is quite different from the others in her line. A reading will convince you of her merit. "To Know is Power," hence the wise ones will take advantage of the Madam's visit here and find out what fate has in store for them. Don't let foolish sentiment or prejudice keep you from knowing your future. If in doubt consult her at once.

A reading may save you time and money. Hours 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. daily and Sunday. Located Hotel Ransford, room 28. Walk in, and up stairs trouble to find the room. Fees 50c to $1.00.

WAR ON TRAMPS BY RAILWAY CHIEFS

Charity Forces to Be Aided in Solving Vagrancy Problem.

WORK THE CHIEF REMEDY.

National Commission to Take Up the Whole Question and to Seek Preventive Measures—How Hoboes Defend Their Right to Rest.

James J. Hill, E. H. Harriman, James McCrea and other railroad chiefs have decided to engage in a hunt for tramps, according to a Minneapolis special dispatch to the New York Times. They intend to make life miserable for the wayfarer. They plan to chase these men from their rights of way. They will help charitable persons to wash them, shave them and make them go to work.

The decision of the railroads was announced at the national conference of charities and correction held recently at Minneapolis. Orlando F. Lewis of New York addressed a special session which had been called to discuss the vagrancy problem. He declared it was the most important problem facing the charity workers of the United States today. He read letters from Messrs.
Hill, McCrea and Harriman. Presidents Delano of the Wabash and Murray of the Baltimore and Ohio and many other railroad chiefs. They agreed that the vagrancy problem was one which must be met at once and offered to co-operate with the charity workers in any movement they might set in motion.

In his letter Mr. Hill declared that hundreds of idle men infest the empty cars of the Great Northern during the summer months, set them on fire, pilfer and steal.

"Tramps," he said, "attempt to secrete themselves on every train at any risk. A considerable number of these are killed or injured each year. They get on or off trains while in motion, and some suffer in life or limb. Others fall off the trains while asleep. It would be difficult to gather reliable statistics on this point, because the large percentage of the tramps reported as killed on the railroads are really murdered. Men returning from the harvest fields with their wages are killed for their money by their more vicious and criminal fellows, the bodies are flung from the train while in motion, and the reported deaths by railroad casualty are actually cases of homicide."

President Hill concluded his letter by offering to co-operate with the charity workers in any crusade they may begin to drive tramps to work.

A national commission of vagrancy is to be formed by the conference, and its membership is to be made up of railroad men and charity workers chosen from the different sections of the United States. This committee will attempt to drive the tramp to the bath-house, to the barber shop and to the work bench.

Mr. Lewis declared that the cost of the tramps to the railroads annually is $2,500,000. He said that in the last year tramps have been responsible for railroad wrecks, the burning of stations, great loss of life and numberless fires in cars. He declared that the tramps tampered with switches, interfered with signals and even killed railroad employees.

The commission will work for the enforcement of existing vagrancy laws, the establishment of sanitary lodging houses, and the enforcement of railroad trespass laws. Literature also will be distributed urging housewives to refuse to distribute alms at the kitchen door.

In an address Mr. Lewis said: "Preventive measures must be based on two principles; first, that the able-bodied vagrant must work for what he receives, and second, that the punishment for intentional vagrancy must be so severe and so conspicuous as to act as a strong deterrent. Vagrancy laws should be enforced if adequate, amended if inadequate.

"Vagrants can be divided into the employable and the unemployable.
The employable are in two groups, accidental vagrants and habitual vagrants. Work should be available for the able-bodied accidental vagrant; habitual vagrants, those idle by intention, need extended punitive and penal treatment. The unemployable, composed of the hopelessly incapable and the incurable, should have permanent care in asylums or almshouses.

"At least one compulsory labor colony for habitual vagrants should be established in each state. Even if such treatment fails to better or to cure the vagrant it will have rendered him harmless for a time to society and at an expense slight in comparison with what he might cost society if free, and his incarceration will act as a deterrent and warning to others."

When the tramps in the Bowery at New York learned that a conference of charity workers out in Minneapolis had decided to do away with tramps, that railroad presidents had sent letters indorsing the movement and that the conference favored the establishing of a national commission of vagrancy there were gasps. "Boston," so called because of a command of language and certain vague reminiscences of Harvard, was one of the first to get the news.

"So they want to drive us to work, eh?" he commented in the retreat in Houston street known as the Greenhouse. "They want to have labor colonies in every state? Now, that is nothing more than the effort of a few captains of industry to deprive the laborer of the right to be idle and to travel over the country when and how he pleases. The railroad presidents figure this way: They say they'll have to carry us anyway. They've been carrying us in the side door Pullmans free for many years. Now they say, 'We'll indorse any plan that makes those fellows work, because then they'll have to pay us when they ride.' That's all there is to the railroad president part of it.

"But the unkindest cut of all is their proposal to get out a lot of literature and circulate it among the housewives of the country, bidding them refuse to let us eat and telling them to quote the statistics of crime at us. Now, that cuts at the very basis of things. Some of my best friends on the road are these same housewives, farmers' wives for the most part. Their husbands work in the fields, assisted by gangs of laborers, while the wives, without help, have to cook for the whole crowd.
Now, their lives are at best dull and full of care. Imagine how cheered and amused they are when I appear. I take off my hat and, with a low bow, say:

"Duchess, I desire to be permitted to introduce to you the Duke of Hunger."

"Why, whenever I get that one off they give me all of the burned pancakes left over from breakfast, and they are glad to do it, too, for I bring variety into their otherwise dull lives.

"Then I have another that used to work very well. I find out the name of the people who lived in such and such a house. Say it was Smith. Then I wait until the men were sure to be in the field. Then I go to the farmer's wife.

"Madam, can you tell me where Mrs. Smith lives? I ask.

"I am Mrs. Smith," ten chances to three she will answer.

"I scratch my head and appear very much puzzled. If she doesn't feed me the right question on the strength of my business, I say solemnly:

"Strange, strange; that is very strange," at the same time keeping my eyes upon her face.

"What is strange?" she asks.

"That you are Mrs. Smith," I reply.

"What is there strange about that?" she comes back with.

"Mrs. Smith," I reply, "has been described to me as a very plain woman, and you—"

"The rest of the sentence I either fill out as the occasion seems to demand or omit altogether in cases of rare intelligence. Then there was another—"

There was a movement among the other occupants of the room.

"Aw, cut it out!" said Red Jack.

Boston smiled.

"You see they are professionally jealous of me," he said.

Keeping an eye on Red, he continued:

"But the real point of the whole thing that I am getting at is just this: Is the farmer's wife to be deprived of the little real enjoyment that she gets out of life that a few captains of industry may make larger profits? I say that the movement to charge the hobo for his transportation would work incalculable injury to the farmer's wife. Also it would work to the injury of the farmer too. Think what would happen to him if he had to eat all of the stuff that his wife gives away.

"The captains of industry and the workers in statistical charity would take all of the poetry out of life. They would deny such of us human beings as are not commercial the clear morning on the road, the night in the haystack and the jolt of the side door Pullman. They'd capitalize the song of the thrush if they could."

"It's a shame," agreed the others, but they were not sufficiently aroused to cross over to Abington square to meet James E. How, field agent of the hobo brotherhood of Chicago and St. Louis, who is in the city to establish a branch.

Old Time Fourth For Sag Harbor.
The town of Sag Harbor, N. Y., has demanded a return to the customs of the fathers. It has decided to celebrate the coming Fourth of July as it was observed a half century ago, writes James H. Kennedy, New York correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Lawn tennis and automobile excursions are to be barred. The occasion is to revive memories and remove the dust from the patriotic landmark.
The bells are to be rung and cannon fired at daybreak. There will be a parade, led by a drum corps. The star spangled banner will be carried by a veteran of 1861. The people are to assemble in a grove, where the Declaration of Independence and Washington's farewell address are to be read.
An old fashioned orator has been engaged to deliver an old fashioned patriotic address, one in which the eagle will scream and the father of America honored.

Curious Tombstone.
A tombstone to be erected in a Bath (England) cemetery to the memory of an engine driver who was an ardent geologist is to be composed of the fossils he collected in his rambles.

Days of the Lesser Things.
These are the days of lesser things.
We drive a horseless cart.
And every blessed critic sings Of artlessness in art.

We've got our wireless telegraphs, And thornless cactus trees;
Our jokes are pointless paragraphs Which no one feels or sees.

We've loveless weddings, and to say;
The spoonless lover spoons,
And goes off on his wedding day To honeymoon honeymoons.

And now we've reached the topmost rung.
The worst of all the string:
Fair nature's self has gone and sprung On us a springless spring!
—Carlyle Smith in New York Times.

the Atlantic battleship fleet is regarded here as having been overlooked in the comment, expert and otherwise, that has since been indulged in on both continents. Admiral Brownson came to Oyster Bay Friday to take lunch with the president, professing entire ignorance of the maneuver plans. When he left Sagamore Hill to take the train for Washington, the admiral had one thought which he wished emphasized—that it was desirable and important to demonstrate to the world how quickly the American navy could transfer its fighting strength from one ocean to the other.
This was distinctly an addition to the president's previous statement issued through Secretary Loeb, wherein the object of the maneuver was said to be an exercise movement for the benefit of the navy, to perfect its training in fleet exercise on an extended scale, the purpose and effect of the plan being for the benefit of the navy alone.

What came from President Roosevelt through Admiral Brownson is decidedly a different and much broader design. President Roosevelt has been consistent in advocating a large navy as the surest guarantee of peace between the United States and all foreign powers. Heretofore a large navy has been reckoned solely from the point of view of the number of ships, their tonnage, armor, guns and fighting capacity. With this idea the American navy has grown steadily, ship by ship.

Somewhat Startling Demonstration.

To the somewhat uninteresting array of ships and tonnage President Roosevelt now proposes to give the world a somewhat startling demonstration of what the American navy is capable of doing to protect either or both of the extended shores of the United States. As Admiral Brown-son said "there is no time like the present for such a demonstration"— a time when the United States is a perfect peace with every nation.

In everything that has come from the president regarding the movement it has been indicated that the fleet wherever it may go is to be brought back to the Atlantic and the return is to be as great a demonstration of speed as the outward journey.

While it is asserted with all possible emphasis that there is no foundation for apprehension of trouble, immediate or future between the United States and Japan, the proposed demonstration with the fleet can be looked upon in no other light than that President Roosevelt intends to use the American navy for exactly that purpose for which he has advocated its augmentation, a guarantee of international peace. It was stated here that Ambassador O'Brien, who has been invited to Sagamore Hill the "latter part of the present week," will not be able to confer with the president before going to his new post in Tokyo. The ambassador finds it necessary to devote some time to his personal affairs in Michigan and will not find it convenient to return to the East before departing by the way of San Francisco for Japan.

It was remarked that there was no occasion for a conference between the president and Ambassador O'Brien other than the formality of official etquette.

HITCH OVER TREATY.

Japan Will Not Consent to Renewal of Existing Convention.

Washington, July 8.—That the Japanese government will not consent to the renewal of the present treaty with the United States if this government reserves the right to insert a clause in the compact excluding Japanese coolie laborers from Continental United States is indicated by semi-official advices purporting to give the views of Foreign Minister Hayashi, which were received here from Otoko Yamaoka, the personal representative of Count Okuma, leader of the Progressive party.

Mr. Yamaoka, who left Seattle in April to confer with the leaders of the Progressive party in Japan, after an alliance between the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the Progressive party had been perfected for the purpose of bringing about the overthrow of the Saloni ministry and the annulment of the exclusion clause in the Immigration bill, is authority for the statement that Foreign Minister Hayashi has received from Secretary of State Root a preliminary "note" regarding the new treaty that the two governments propose to substitute for the convention that expires July 17, 1911.

The draft of the new treaty submitted by Secretary Root, according to the communication from Mr. Ya-maoka, called for the renewal of Article 2, Clause 4, of the present treaty, which gives to each nation the right to regulate immigration.

STANDARD OIL OFFICIALS.

Will Hold a Conference With Their Attorneys.

Chicago, July 8.—All of the officials of the Standard Oil company with the exception of John D. and William Rockefeller who were subpoenaed as witnesses in the case before Judge Landis will hold a conference with the attorneys of the corporation. Just what the object of the meeting is was not given out, but the general belief is that the conference was arranged to consider what action shall be taken by the attorneys for the oil company when court opens.

At the conclusion of the taking of testimony Saturday and after Judge Landis notified all the witnesses that they were dismissed he offered the attorneys for the company the opportunity to explain to the court this week that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey never violated a federal law.

The representatives of the company will now have the opportunity to prove this. When asked what action would be taken in the matter, counsel for the defendant company declared that they did not know.

Judge Landis said he had not heard from anyone connected with the defendant company since Saturday and had not the slightest idea of what the attorneys intended to do. He will be in court ready to take up the case should the oil company care to go further into the rebate question. He said the case might be concluded in five minutes and that it might last for another week. Just as soon as the court proceedings are finished Judge Landis will take the imposing of a fine under consideration. He declared that it would be at least a week before he would reach a decision in the matter, as there were still many papers that he wished to study carefully.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED.

Automobile Plunges Over a Steep Embankment.

St. Paul, July 8.—Five Minneapolis people, two women and three men, while automobiling on the Riverside boulevard near the Town and Country club, were hurled over an embankment 200 feet high. Two are thought to be fatally hurt. The party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Nichols, 814 South Tenth street; Mr. and Mrs. J. A.
Smith, 2716 Harriet avenue, and C. F.
Williams.

Dr. Nichols seems to be in the most serious condition. Although no fractures were found by Dr. S. G. Cobb, he is cut and bruised in all parts of the body. His scalp is torn in several places, his cheeks are lacerated and he has multiple bruises about the body and legs. He received internal injuries that may prove fatal. C. F.
Williams received injuries that may be fatal. He is painfully bruised and he is said to be in a critical condition from the shock. Mr. and Mrs. Smith received many cuts and bruises from rolling down the embankment and Mrs. Nichols was also bruised and cut.
All are suffering from shock.

The party had been invited by Dr.
Nichols for an outing and after dinner they drove to the parks of the Mill City and afterward came to Riverside boulevard. They crossed the Marshal avenue bridge and started down the boulevard between Summit avenue and Marshall avenue. When in the vicinity of Shadow Falls the machine balked. Dr. Nichols got out and fixed the machine.

The auto started at a lively clip and the doctor lost control of it. He tried to reverse the machine as it was going rapidly toward the embankment at a sharp turn in the road.

While Dr. Nichols was endeavoring to stop the machine to prevent the apparent disaster his guests saw the danger and as the machine got to the brink of the precipice they jumped.

Dr. Nichols and the machine went over the sloping embankment to the river front 200 feet below. The auto mobile was smashed into pieces and the doctor fell unconscious on the bank of the river, bleeding from many wounds, his clothes torn into shreds.

The other members of the party had not jumped soon enough to avoid the cliff and each of them rolled down the slope to the bottom where they were found in a badly bruised condition.
